Introduction of JaNet/ Future Japan! MENTOR Network

Future Japan! MENTOR Network (FJMN), a business network project supported by NPO JaNet.

- Built Year: July 2013
- Company Network: 80+ companies
- Organizer Member: 29
- Number of participants: 800+
- Website: <http://japanesenetwork.org/>
- FJMN Facebook Page: <https://www.facebook.com/futurejapanmn/>

Future Japan! MENTOR Network (FJMN) is an affiliation of JaNet. By building a network with businesses in the New York metropolitan area and providing useful business, industry, and employment information, FJMN is enhancing the careers of both Japanese and non-Japanese young professionals.

FJMN is growing rapidly, thanks to the kind cooperation of more than 70 businesses and 80+ business individuals who have agreed to become a FJMN “mentor” (as of November 1, 2015). More mentors are expected to join in the coming days, and FJMN is determined to achieve its goals through continuous diligence.

NY Executive lecture series is a NY-based set of lectures run by the non-profit organization NPO JaNet, under the slogan "Creating Network of Executives".

Endorsed by NY JCCI, lectures were held four times during 2015. Executives from Suntory, NTT Docomo, Toray, and Kodansha USA were invited to speak on a topic of their companies' global business and then respond to questions from a selected panel and the audience.

As of March 25th, over 200 participants attended the seminars. These events are an excellent opportunity for young professionals. NY Executive Lecture Series is open to the public.

1. We are building a “mentor” network of various businesses operating in New York City area -that would provide useful business/ industry/job search-related information to both NY-based Japanese and non-Japanese students as well as those looking to enhance their careers.

2. We expand our communicational platform among professionals in the different industries for younger generations came out from New York area with longer term view.

(We are not job search platform. A “mentor” network who assist younger generation’s future visions)
